JAPAN IS DROPPED AS POLITICAL ISSUE BY CALIFORNIANS
PERPETUAL WAR SCARE ON PACIFIC THING OF PAST.
UNREST IS FELT
Republican Governor Candidate at Outs with Johnson and Committee.

San Francisco, Oct. 12.—The war with Japan which has been so characteristic of the Pacific coast for a long time has at last subsided.
It is the most significant development of the last 12 months, and although opinions differ as to whether the conference on the limitation of armament was the principal factor or the quiet and effective work of the business men of this region, the fact is that the war scare has gone.
This is not to say that the Japanese problem, the question of competition in agriculture and the relation of the two nations has disappeared. But agitation over this has diminished. The people of California do not argue the matter—they have their say on the question of leasing of land to aliens, and so does California. It is not a subject of negotiation between the United States and the Japanese governments and hence it may be considered as a past issue. Proof of this may be seen in the attitude of newspaper editors here, two or three years ago would have displayed with big headlines news of an appeal of a Japanese land case through the courts—an item that was buried in small space the other day in most papers.
Perhaps it is that the politicians have ceased to use the Japanese prejudice as a vote getter. Perhaps it is that the electorate has tired of the issue. But witness the attitude of the California gubernatorial campaign and the "yellow peril" is not mentioned.
Politics in Unusual Tangle
Speaking of California's political affairs, this state has managed, as usual, to cut itself off from the rest of the nation. The whole thing is its amusing aspects. First, there is Elmer Johnson, republican candidate for re-election to the United States. Johnson, a big figure in the politics of California, and so far as California's verdict is concerned, Mr. Johnson could justly be considered as a political mummy.

Witness in Hall Murder Mystery Suffers Collapse

BULLETIN.
Somerville, N. J.—Raymond Schneider Thursday afternoon repudiated the alleged confession in which he accused Clifford Hayes, 19, of the murder of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Reichardt Mills. It was unofficially announced that Hayes probably would be released before night.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Somerville, N. J.—Raymond Schneider, detained as a material witness in the Hall-Mills murder case, Thursday, collapsed in the Somerville county jail. A physician, who worked over him nearly a half hour before he was revived, said he was suffering from a severe nervous breakdown after the grilling to which he had been subjected.

PLAN TO ANALYZE SPOTS FOUND ON KNIFE
New Brunswick, N. J.—New Jersey officials investigating the murder on Sept. 14 of the Rev. Edward W. Hall, rector of the Episcopal church of St. John the Evangelist, and his choir leader, Mrs. Eleanor Reichardt Mills, sought Thursday to identify a possible knife found some distance from the spot where the slain bodies were discovered and turned over to the local police Wednesday.
Detectives declared it possible that the knife was the one used in slaying Mrs. Mills' throat. There were spots on the blade which may have been caused by blood. An analysis will be made.
Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow of the Rev. Edward W. Hall, was brought back into the limelight Thursday when detectives visited her home and took away a sword and fawn colored coat which she had dyed by a Philadelphia firm shortly after the murders were discovered.
The garments were taken to the office of a firm of chemists with the request that they be analyzed to determine whether or not there was any human blood on the garments.

Wins Girl With Gun; As Wife She Has Him Jailed

Nynck, N. J.—Arnold C. Tanner, a student living in Grandview, may have been able to win a wife with the aid of a pistol. He cannot keep her, however, for he is constantly threatening her life, according to the story told in court today by the bride. Mrs. Tanner hailed her husband into court on a charge of kidnapping with intent to kill. According to Mrs. Tanner, her future husband on Oct. 3 called at her home, began courting her on the porch, and then suddenly turned around and demanded her hand or her life. She gave him her hand. On the tenth day of the honeymoon, she asserted, he again threatened her life. This time she had him arrested.

ARMOUR ON STAND IN FUTURES QUIZ

Packer Denies Company Is Interested in Grain Transactions.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Chicago — J. Ogden Armour, packer, and George E. Marcy, president of the Armour Grain company, principal witnesses Wednesday before the federal grand jury in its inquiry into trading in grain futures, were in conference with attorneys Thursday to determine to what extent they will reveal details of their transactions when they appear before the commission again Friday.

Mr. Armour characterized himself as a "casual trader" in the grain market. He denied that the Armour company was interested in any grain deals in which he participated, asserting the packing firm does not trade in grain futures.

In his preliminary testimony, Mr. Armour said his grain transactions were handled by the Armour Grain company and some of other brokers, whose names he declined to reveal. Mr. Marcy defended the board of trade as a necessary medium through which the farmer finds a sure and constant market for his grain.

POLITICAL CRISIS IN ENGLAND MAY FORCE ELECTION

CONSERVATIVES TIRED OF COALITION AND LLOYD GEORGE.

POLITICS IN MIX
Appeal to Country Likely to Result, Belief in Some Quarters.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
London—Odds of nearly two to one against an election before the end of the year are being accepted in the London insurance market, notwithstanding the possibility of a general election in political circles that an appeal to the country before Christmas is inevitable. The discrepancy thus manifested is significant of the complete uncertainty surrounding the political situation for the moment.

Rank and File Restive
Premier Lloyd George's friends continue to insist that he will not resign, while others assert with equal confidence that he has determined to ask the country for a vote of confidence and that his speech at Manchester Saturday will be the first sign.

There is general concurrence on one point, namely, that the crisis has been brought about by the restiveness of the rank and file of the conservatives, who are tired alike of the coalition government and Lloyd George's leadership and are eager to get back to party lines. It is stated in some quarters, however, that the conservative leaders in the coalition cabinet continue loyal to the premier.

Women Are Candidates
The next few days will supply the public with more excitement concerning domestic politics than it has enjoyed since the outbreak of the war.

One of the interesting features when an election is held will be the number of women seeking parliamentary life. The two present women members, Lady Astor and Mrs. Curzon, are under a great deal of desire for re-election, and nearly a score of others are announced candidates.

GREEKS, FEARING MASSACRE, FLEE

Doubt Allied Ability to Prevent Outrage as Turks Advance.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Athens—News of the conclusion of the armistice at Mudania was received quickly here, as a large part of the population already regarded the entry of the Turks into Eastern Anatolia as inevitable. Talk of resistance is mainly confined to the army.

Withdrawal of funds from the banks and liquidation of assets have been in progress several days.

More than 1,000 families have left Anatolia for Greece within the last week, and the city is filled with refugees from the villages bound westward.

Despite the presence of the allied mission, sent here to maintain order, the Christian population seem unwilling to believe that the allies can carry out their guarantee of protection and a repulsion of the Smyrna massacres is feared by many.

Lone Negro Robs Train Passengers

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Kansas City, Mo.—Police today were searching for a negro who, late Wednesday night, held up two Pullman cars of Santa Fe train No. 1, the California Limited, soon after it pulled out of the Union Station here, and robbed the passengers of an undetermined amount of cash and jewelry. The negro boarded the rear car of the train left the station and committed the robbery before the city limits were reached, leaving the train somewhere between 15th street and Sheffield, a suburb.

The train did not stop and a dispatch from Lexington Junction, about 100 miles west, was received.

Men Passengers Protect Woman

Chicago—Gallantry of the men passengers when a negro bandit invaded the Santa Fe railroad California Limited train in Kansas City Wednesday night was recalled Thursday when the train reached Chicago. Mrs. S. B. Sweet, Detroit, the only woman in the car, told how six men had gone to her aid when the negro entered.

"I was walking toward the observation platform while the porter was taking my baggage," she said. "I heard a cry, 'Drop your bag.' I didn't see anyone, but as I approached the door a negro with a revolver appeared. I dropped the bag."

"The six men in the car jumped up as the negro yelled 'hands up.' The men surrounded me and threw out their pocketbooks. They pushed me back toward the rear of the car and I was able to escape."

It was all over in a few minutes. The robber jumped off the train. Among the men who protected Mrs. Sweet were William J. Paulsen and Michael Mueller, both of Chilton, Wis. They had little to say, except that they had lost only small sums.

50 miles east, early Thursday morning, gave the police their first information of the robbery. This dispatch was thrown from the train by the conductor. It, with another received later from Marceline, said that after all passengers on the observation car had been placed on a folding chair. When they complied, the negro picked up his loot and ordered the men to hold up their hands while he backed toward the rear of the car. Here he robbed all passengers with whom he came in contact.

Then he made his way to the vestibule and escaped.

San Francisco—The fire on the Steamer City of Honolulu was beyond control at 10:10 a. m. Thursday and the ship was being abandoned by the captain, chief engineer, first officer and radio operator, the last four aboard the vessel, a radio dispatch received here said. The Steamer Enterprise, the nearest of the three vessels to the Honolulu, had not reached the burning craft when the final message was sent. The message indicated, according to the Federal Telegraph company, which received it, that all of the passengers and crew had taken to the life boats.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Los Angeles—With some 300 passengers aboard, the Los Angeles steamship company's vessel, City of Honolulu, was reported by wireless Thursday afternoon, two days off shore from this port, on the return trip of its first voyage between Los Angeles and Honolulu.

The City of Honolulu is a shipping board vessel of 17,500 tons and was allocated to the local company for six months trial, for service between this city and the Hawaiian Islands. It left Sept. 23 with more than 300 passengers, mostly tourists, and it is believed a large number of these were returning on the vessel.

The position of the steamer at 5:38 a. m. was given as latitude 21° 27' north, longitude 151° 40' west, according to the last radio message received from the vessel, which was picked up by the Federal company station at San Francisco. Three vessels are known to be near the steamer, the transport Thomas and the steamers Enterprise and City of Los Angeles.

The City of Honolulu is the reconverted German liner Frederick Der Grosse. During the war she was known as the Huron and when the shipping board allocated her to the Los Angeles S. S. company for trial service, she was renamed the City of Los Angeles.

The vessel is 600 feet long and has a tonnage of 17,500.

PICK MANY CATTLE FOR CHICAGO SHOW

Will Take Four Age Sires to Fat Stock Show in County Herd.

Selection of a part of the Rock county milking Shorthorn herd for the Chicago International Livestock exposition—the "fat stock" show—reports Secretary J. J. McCann. "It is surprising the number of states that have inquired about Rock county Shorthorns. There have been requests from as far east as New York and from Washington in the west. That display of Shorthorns on the fair circuit certainly brought Rock county into public attention.

"Rock is beginning to be known as the blue ribbon county."

It is planned to send two carloads of Shorthorns to the Chicago show and in addition Rock county will be represented by several sheep breeders and the matchless Harford from the J. C. Robinson and son farm, Evansville. This is the first time any county ever attempted to form a representative county show herd of Shorthorns for the international.

Four crack age bulls are to be taken in the county herd, all of different types and representing the best blood lines of the breed. There is a champion of the Little herd; Flintstone Chief, a roan sire from the Lamb herd; Walgrave Enterprise and his sire, Walgrave, giant white bulls from the herds of Marquette and Rye brothers. Any one of these sires stands a chance for the blue ribbon.

Send Great Cow

One of the best prospects uncovered by the committee named is Janesville Rose and "Lionel" to defeat this splendid cow for the championship honors. She carries the full type of the breed, has few faults, has better than a 10,000 pound milk record and is in excellent flesh at the present time.

One of the best cows seen is to be offered in the coming county sale and it is hoped the buyer will allow Rock county to show her at Chicago. It was hoped to collect four cows sent by Donnie Scotchman for one entry in the get-of-sire class.

Breeders visited and declared that they would exert every effort to fit the animals selected for the Chicago show which opens December 2.

Young animals are to be selected on the second inspection trip so that Rock county will have entries in all the classes.

Shorthorn Sale

Shorthorn breeders are hopeful for a good county sale Oct. 19, when the first auction will be held in the new livestock pavilion on the fair grounds. A few animals that were winners on the fair circuit and their produce are being offered. The breeders contributing to the sale are: Harvey Little, Seth Crill, W. C. Sarow, Evansville; Robert Traylor and son, Koshkonong; James Campbell, Al. Adkins, Milton; J. J. McCann and son, R. W. Miller and son, James Hadden and son, C. E. Culver, E. H. Parker, Claud Dunham, Janesville; Archie Wenworth, Edgerton; R. W. Wentworth, Port Addison; Clayton Spaulding, Milton; George Clark and sons, Avon.

CROP PRODUCTION SHOWN IN REPORT

Good Corn Crop Throughout Wisconsin—Drop in Tobacco.

The estimated production of corn in Wisconsin increased 3,000,000 bushels during the past month, the cabbage crop rose 11,000 tons, while the forecast production of potatoes declined 300,000 bushels and tobacco 100,000 pounds, the state crop reporting service says in its monthly survey completed today.

The survey made by Joseph Becker, crop reporter, shows that for four consecutive years Wisconsin has produced large corn crops which matured practically without frost injury. This year a total production of 33,338,000 bushels is forecast from October 1 condition. This is nearly equal to the record breaking 1921 crop of 37,432,000 bushels and is 24,000,000 bushels above the five year average.

Effect of Drought

Some fields are said to have been badly burned during the hot weather of early September, necessitating the immediate filling of silos, but heavy rains and cooler weather which followed permitted maturing of the crop under ideal conditions. Condition on October 1 was 75.4 per cent compared to 73.7 per cent on September 1, and 84.8 per cent last year.

Potatoes did not withstand the hot weather as well as did corn, with the consequence that the condition declined from 55 per cent on September 1 to 35 per cent on October 1, compared to 55 per cent a year ago and a 10 year average of 74.4 per cent. Forecast production is given at 32,432,000 bushels compared to 37,432,000 on September 1 and 21,220,000 produced last year.

Tobacco Production

With a greatly reduced acreage and unfavorable weather conditions during late August and early September, the 1922 tobacco crop has dropped to an estimated production of 45,899,000 pounds, compared to 46,227,000 pounds forecast September 1, 61,406,000 produced in 1921 and a five year average of 57,863,000 pounds.

The tobacco plant leaves are said to be short and medium sized. Some of the crop was out and put into sheds under adverse conditions and is reported to be curing unsatisfactorily. Condition on October 1 was 35 per cent, compared to 35 per cent on October 1, 92 per cent a year ago, and a 10 year average of 56.6 per cent.

Other Crops Big

The cabbage crop prospect increased from 155,000 tons on September 1 to 165,000 tons on October 1. This compares with last year's crop of 57,000 tons and a five-year average of 115,000 tons. The average yield placed at 3.5 tons per acre as compared to 3.2 tons last year and a 10-year average of 3.2 tons.

The production of onions in 1922 is estimated at 497,000 bushels as compared to 497,000 forecast on September 1, 1,000,000 bushels produced last year, and a five year average of 318,000 tons. The quality is high, the report says. Production of sugar beets based on October 1 condition is given at 119,000 tons compared to 171,000 tons produced last year and a five year average of 170,000 tons.

New Duroc Sire At Parker Farm: Has Blood Lines

E. H. Parker and son have a new Duroc-Jersey herd sire that is the blue blood of the breed. He will be used with Jack's Big King. The new boar was farrowed August 1, 1921 and was sired by Reformer by Orson Cherry King out of Principle the 4th by the Professor. The dam has a son at the National swine show weighing 1330 pounds but failed to show because of being stricken with illness. The dam weighs 630 pounds and the new boar is said to become a heavyweight with plenty of back and big bone.

Greenwald took second place at the National on his great boar—"Permit" grand champion at the Wisconsin fair. A Sensation brood Duroc from Nebraska took the royal purple ribbon.

Through activity of the state dairy and food inspectors the people of Wisconsin were saved $1,118,044 during the past year at an expense to the state of $78,557. J. Q. Emery, dairy and food commissioner, declared in a talk to the state inspectors of weights and measures.

He pointed out that 704,032,000 pint bottles and 30,732,000 one-half pint bottles are used in the state annually; in addition to over 35,000,000 half pint bottles of cream.

Inspectors by preventing fraudulent measures in these bottles keep them up to weight and save consumers hundreds of thousands of dollars annually, the dairy and food commissioner said. The saving on but is estimated by Mr. Emery at $762,000 and on milk at $375,000. He claims that this saving can just be claimed by his department.

BLAINE WILL TOUR TO BOOST FARMING

Campaign to Inform Other States of Wisconsin Products.

Governor Blaine will undertake to sell Wisconsin to the states of the Mississippi valley during November when he starts on a proposed speaking tour to promote Wisconsin products and projects.

The governor has just accepted an invitation of 38 state farm and industrial organizations to represent them before the various Mississippi valley commonwealths. He will make the opening address Nov. 22 at Chicago.

Among the subjects to be stressed by Governor Blaine will be the two deep waterway projects, including the great lakes to the Atlantic and great lakes to the Gulf, good roads, and Wisconsin marketing laws; while he will tell his audiences of the fact that Wisconsin raises more tobacco than Cuba, produces 76 per cent of the cheese and spends more money in state products supervision than any other state in the union.

The coming tour was prompted by an invitation from the Chicago Association of Commerce to address that organization on "Wisconsin day," Nov. 22.

From Chicago, Governor Blaine, accompanied by Mrs. Blaine, will appear before St. Louis, Kansas City, Memphis and New Orleans farm and commercial bodies. He expects to stress the fact that Wisconsin raises a greater acreage of certified seed potatoes and grain than any other state and that many of its industrial plants are leaders of the world in their respective fields.

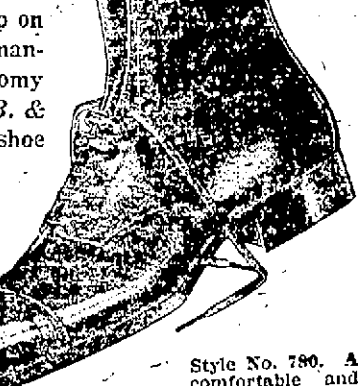

State organizations behind the movement declare that the governor's acceptance marks a new step in selling a state to its neighbors. The governor will return to Wisconsin in time to participate in the opening of the Wisconsin Products exposition in Milwaukee, Dec. 14.

The state is entering upon an intensive advertising campaign of its products and resources, promoting Wisconsin before the state and nation.

U. S. Government May Take Hand in Wisconsin's Suit

[By Associated Press.]

Madison—The likelihood of federal intervention in the suit asserted by the state of Wisconsin against the state of Illinois and the Sanitary district of Chicago to restrain them from diverting water from Lake Michigan into the Chicago drainage canal, was indicated today by announcement of Attorney General William J. Morgan that James M. Beck, solicitor general of the United States, had asked if federal participation would be agreeable.

Mr. Beck in a letter to Mr. Morgan asked to know if he might join with the attorney general in his contention before the U. S. supreme court concerning the unlawful diversion of waters of Lake Michigan by the authorities of Illinois.

Replying, Attorney General Morgan said that "it would be highly gratifying to me if the federal government intervened and joined with Wisconsin in this suit to restrain the unlawful diversion of waters of Lake Michigan." He advised the solicitor general that it was his intention to ask an order from the supreme court for the taking of testimony in the action.

Illinois recently filed its answer to the complaint made some time ago by the state of Wisconsin in the case.

SOCIETY PLANS TO PROTECT ANTELOPE

American Species Threatened with Extinction Unless Shielded.

Yellowstone Park.—The American antelope is threatened with extinction according to officials here of the department of the interior. Unless protective measures are taken, officials declared, an animal widely admired for its coloring, delicate proportions and zephyr-like movements, soon will be seen only in museums.

There are probably not more than 1,000 antelope remaining in the United States, according to a statement and the total number in the park is about 100. In 1900 the number was estimated as 2,000.

The cause of the antelope has been taken up by the American Bison Society of New York. A number of societies interested in game preservation will meet jointly in the east to consider a program to protect antelope. Proposed measures include provision for an adequate winter range for Yellowstone herds, and for lands running in Oregon, Nevada, Idaho, Wyoming, Utah and California.

Last winter nearly a third of the Yellowstone Park herds were lost as a result of heavy snows and the depletion of coyotes, wolves and mountain lions.

The most serious menace to their preservation here is the absence of suitable winter range, according to these officials. Besides running the risk of starvation, owing to scant forage if the snows are deep, they are easy prey for predatory animals.

Park authorities will withdraw part of the antelope range from tourist use next season, as the presence of tourists is said to keep the nervous animals on the qui vive and to interfere with breeding.

JAZZ MUSIC DYING OUT, IS BELIEF OF GREAT BANDMASTER

John Philip Sousa, American's leading bandmaster, who is bringing his band to this city for a matinee concert, Tuesday, Oct. 17, is one of the growing majority of people who believe that "the death-knell of jazz is sounding."

The fact that people have been prophesying this for two or three years back, and the fact that jazz is more and more stronger than ever does not discourage him.

"The so-called modern dancing—vulgar, unmusical, ungraceful, without rhythm or sense—is about to go," says Mr. Sousa. "In its place will come an era of sense with everything the opposite of what has reigned in this country and other lands as well, for so long. The old-time waltz, with its wonderful musical strain, will return. Real musical dance tunes and the ball-room of the future will be a pride to any real music-loving man or woman."

Mr. Sousa, who has written more than 3,000 pieces of music, expresses his opinion that opera—light, comic and grand—are about to return in popular favor. His opinion in this is strengthened by the way in which the people of Chicago last year received grand opera.

"Marches," says this noted composer and conductor, "will always live. The roles of the march in the last war were made it a permanent institution." Sousa himself is to be given a great credit as anybody for the permanency of the march. His "Stars and Stripes Forever" and "Semper Paratus" are heard almost any time a band plays. These are but two of his most popular, while his compositions are almost countless.

Schools will be especially interested in the appearance of the band, and it may be possible that children who wish to attend will be dismissed, as the band plays here only in the afternoon.

HINDUS SAVE FOR GOAT SACRIFICE

Chicago.—Hindus save their pennies for years in a school near Lucknow, maintained so that they may buy goats for sacrifice, reports a native teacher in a school near Lucknow, maintained by the board of Sunday schools, Methodist Episcopal church. Savings of pennies are spent for flowers to be scattered on the waters of the Ganges. Others save for a lifetime that they may journey to the sacred river and wash away their sins.

Seattle Has Largest Presbyterian Church

Chicago.—First Presbyterian church of Seattle, having a membership of 7,000, is the largest church of its denomination in the country, according to the annual report of the church for the year ending Easter. The central church of Brooklyn, with almost 4,000 members, ranks second, while the number of churches with 1,000 or more members has increased from 121 in 1920 to 167.

Flexible cuff links have been invented that enable a man to pull his shirt sleeves above his elbows without unbuttoning the cuffs.

Latest Ideas in Health Education Outlined by Sec'y

Plans for carrying out the new health education program of the National Y. W. C. A. and for the purchase of the necessary equipment were considered at a meeting of the local education committee, Tuesday night.

Miss June Bellows, national secretary, said that the new program is positive rather than negative, and will stress individual needs. She explained that the positive health movement is being promoted by the Y. W. C. A. foundation for health, with which 15 leading women's organizations are affiliated. These include the General Federation of Women's Clubs, League of Women Voters, Y. W. C. A., National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations.

The program adopted has been endorsed in resolutions passed by the American Medical association. In explaining the scope and aim of the new program, Miss Bellows said: "Health is something positive, progressive, dynamic. It is not merely a vague and negative state of being which remains after active illness has subsided. It stabilizes and enriches life, and no effort is too great which helps to win it. This is the positive ideal of health we are now undertaking to teach. This new program arrives, first of all, to persuade the individual to assume a personal responsibility for achieving her own physical best. It is always possible to add health to one's life. There are latent stores at hand for progressive health building."

The basis of progressive health building is the health examination. This should be something more than a merely informative survey. The periodical examination which is concluded with stocktaking and aims at a negative reassurance against disease, latent, insipient or active, is not a sufficient safeguard for any individual.

"The health examination advocated by the foundation does not stop with the individual as is, but impels her toward the individual that is to be. The health education program directs the individual toward trained medical assistance when that is needed, but the paramount aim is to awaken a personal ambition to achieve health, in which duty of a woman's relation to health must rest on a broad foundation of habit and conduct, habit built upon practice and conduct based upon conscience."

Miss Bellows advised the local association to do individual follow-up work for members of gym classes, where the medical examination report shows corrective gymnastics of any kind needed. In this connection Miss Bellows will confer with local physicians who made the examinations with a view to securing their cooperation in the Y. W. C. A. corrective health program. Equipment which Miss Bellows asked the local association to purchase includes a muscle testing instrument and other apparatus needed for ordinary physical examination work.

MOVIES WILL BE SHOWN IN THIBET

Land of Mystery to be Invaded by Film and Camera-man.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] London.—Thibet, it is hoped, will not much longer be the land of mystery. Nor will the great world, it is expected, continue to be the great land of the unknown to the Thibetans. They are to be offered an opportunity of seeing, on the movie screen, something of the wonders to be found in the vast world beyond Thibet. In exchange it is hoped they will allow cinematograph pictures to be taken of the wonders of Thibet for people of other lands to see.

A cable just received in London announces the arrival in Calcutta of the members of the British Buddhist Mission to Thibet. They have begun the long and difficult journey on foot through the Himalayas. On their way to Darjeeling, the mission visited the Doodhidruma (or "Tree of Intelligence"), the sacred fig tree under which, according to Buddhist tradition, Buddha was sitting in contemplation when he attained the perfect wisdom. A film is to be taken of the tree and of the pilgrims visiting it, and it is hoped to show these pictures to the Dalai Lama in Lhasa itself. Films of wild animals and the various aspects of the outside world are also being carried in order to offer to the highest Thibetan authorities the first cinematograph exhibition ever given in their famous city.

One of the objects in displaying the wonders and possibilities of moving pictures is to secure permission for making film records of the country and its people.

Editor Lives Through

61 Years of Threats

Clinton, Ia.—If threats could kill, William D. Eaton never would have lived to complete 61 years as editor and publisher of The Clinton Mirror, which he recently sold.

In the days when the Mirror was engaged in ruthlessly exposing crime and criminals, Mr. Eaton was frequently threatened with bodily injury and even with death.

"But I managed to escape them all, and live to reach a ripe old age," said Mr. Eaton, now 83, and for the last few years editor and publisher as well as compositor, press man, business manager and advertising and subscription solicitor for his paper.

It is one of the survivors of the days when the Washington land press was the acme of mechanical perfection. It is still used in The Mirror office.

GIVING THE POOR DOG A BONE.

The ravages of the Turkish dog will be stopped by feeding him a bone. Eastern Thrace, made up of as many Christians as Turks, will be handed back to the Turk and a Moslem foothold will again be permitted on European soil. True, Kemal and his Nationalists are to be checked somewhat by restrictions as to the number of soldiers which may be taken into Thrace and there will be no Holy War at once against the Greeks and other Christians but the future has nothing bright for the inhabitants of Thrace. Britain has saved the world from a Holy Moslem war, France will retain her hold on Syria, the oil wells of Mesopotamia will still be British, the Armenians will be again creatures of full Turkish control and we will return to the same general conditions as characterized Turkey as a menace to human life and freedom prior to the world war. Still, oh, yes, we will save the oil wells. That is something for the British. France will have her hold on Syria. That saves France a rich territory. What else matters?

The United States will be asked into a general conference on future affairs, still unsettled, as to the Dardanelles and Russia. We have no business in such a conference, if it implies obligations and future complications involving the integrity of the Turk agreements. When not backed up by bayonets such agreements are mere scraps of paper. We can say to the Turk however, in no uncertain tones, that morally the United States expects something from the Moslem nationalists—the protection of life and liberty of Christians and the property of American mission societies.

It is possible the Turk under Kemal may wish to take a place somewhat differing from that occupied by the old Ottoman empire of semi-barbarism. He will have as a background, however, the sacked and burned city of Smyrna as a bloody and black bar sinister across his shield. He has his Thracian bone and perhaps the dog will bite no more until another bone is needed.

"If you cannot send troops, send cash," is the plea to Uncle Sam from any distressed nation.

A NOTABLE ACHIEVEMENT.

Seventy years ago Tuesday, October 10, the first railroad bridge was planned across the Mississippi river. It was a part of the Rock Island railroad system and the first to connect the western Mississippi valley with navigation on the lakes. Up here in Wisconsin we had the same dreams and two roads, one from Sheboygan and another from Milwaukee west to the Mississippi had been promoted. But ahead of all others was the Rock Island and its promoters. The Rock river channel was too rapid, too unsafe and uncertain to provide a successful commercial channel to the Mississippi. From Chicago a canal had been dug to navigation on the Illinois and with water connection by Lake Michigan eastward, and westward by the Illinois and Mississippi rivers, Chicago was rapidly taking a leadership which she has since continued to hold on the traffic both ways.

With the Chartering of the Rock Island bridge, the conflict between the river men and the railroads was set in array. Every obstructive effort was made to stop the bridge building. When the work had been completed as far as the island owned by the government an appeal was taken to the government. Here Jefferson Davis, afterward president of the Southern Confederacy, then secretary of war, gave his decision that the bridge could have no abutment on the island. He was overruled by the court and the bridge completed in 1856.

A steamboat caught a sidewheel in the channel pier, burned and with the boat went a part of the bridge only a few days after the first train went across.

Another famous man was attorney for the railroad in the legal contest that followed. But Abraham Lincoln failed to win the suit there being a hung jury. In 1862 the decision was finally in favor of the railroad company and the Mississippi has since been a barrier no longer to commerce east and west.

Strange that all this was but yesterday—with in the lifetime of hundreds of men and women still living, and that it should involve two opposing leaders of the Civil War in its history.

Importance of This Year's Elections

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN

Washington.—Of-year campaigns and elections are interesting chiefly for their bearing on the next struggle for the presidency. This is especially true of the fight now on. It will determine the political complexion of the next congress and which party will control the official machinery of various states, and all that is important but the big thing it will do will be to spotlight the men who will contest for the great prize in 1924. In a way it will be the qualification or elimination round of the presidential tournament.

If the republicans retain control of congress and are measurably successful in the state contests, they will look forward to 1924 with redoubled confidence, for they would regard this as an endorsement of the Harding administration. On the other hand, if the democrats should carry either house or senate, and if they should win in one or two of the pivotal states, they would have grounds for the belief that their party is about to stage a come-back. They would go into the next fight with a far more aggressive spirit and their forces that are now somewhat disintegrated could be marshalled far more easily into a formidable fighting machine.

Peepily enough, while all republicans are of one mind as to the desirability of their retaining control of congress, there are differences of opinion among democrats as to whether it would be a good thing for them to elect an actual majority in either house. A few democratic leaders insist that all they want is to score substantial gains in the congressional elections, leaving the republicans in control of congress by the narrowest possible margin. This, they say, would not only make the republicans solely responsible for whatever happens in a legislative way during the next 18 months, but also would make it impossible for the republicans to explain any failure to carry out their program by blaming the people for electing a democratic house or senate. These democrats also point out that if their party gets control of congress it will be incumbent on it to go before the people in 1924. That is to say, the democrats would be expected to pass bills embodying their views on the more important issues, and it is quite possible that they might, into a wrangle among themselves over such questions as the tariff, the bonus, ship subsidy, industrial relations, and the like, that would prove disastrous.

Moreover, even if they could get together on a constructive program of legislation anything they might do would doubtless be nullified by the veto of President Harding, and in disapproving democratic measures the republican president might find it easy to make considerable political capital for himself and his party.

Such may be said to be the views of the more cautious democratic leaders. Others, more impatient, insist it would be a good thing for their party to win a majority in both house and senate. This sentiment is willing to take chances on being able to make a record that will appeal to the people. All this has to do with the fitness of the great game of politics. By far the more interesting phase of the possible results of the present campaign is the development of star players of the game. Most democrats who figure in national affairs and practically all the expert political observers agree the democratic standard bearer for 1924 will emerge from the elections next month. Somewhere, in one of the important fights for a governorship or for a seat in the senate, a man will loom up, they say, who personifies the leadership which the party needs.

There are big men in the democratic party, but none of them is such an outstanding figure that he must be accepted as the party leader—not even former President Wilson. Cox, McAdoo, Palmer, Marshall and Underwood are conspicuous by reason of their prominence in past presidential fights, and William Jennings Bryan is still very much alive and in evidence, but it can not be said the democratic donkey stops, looks and listens when any one of these raises his voice in an effort to make the welkin ring. Nor will any one of them have an opportunity this year to demonstrate that he is a vote-getter.

However, there are some democrats who have splendid chances to show their form. Senator Pomeroy in Ohio may be said to have an exceptional opportunity. He is a candidate for a third election to the senate in a state this is pivotal and is the home of President Harding. Should he win, it would be difficult to convince him and his friends that he is not the logical candidate for the presidency.

Former Governor Ralston, Indiana, is another to be reckoned with. He is running for the senate against the redoubtable Albert Jeremiah Beveridge. Any democrat who can get himself elected to the senate from the Hoosier state, and particularly one who can defeat Beveridge, looms up. Of course Mr. Ralston has not accomplished either of these things as yet, but he has his chance.

Former Governor Smith, New York, is in the same position. All he has to do is to wrest the senatorial toga from the republican shoulders of Senator Calder to be in the running for the presidency.

Then there is "Jim" Reed, Missouri, the stormy petrel of democracy, who won himself a senatorial nomination in the face of all the opposition (the Wilson element could rally). If re-elected, he will be one of the big factors in his party for many years to come.

There is perhaps less likelihood of the development of republican candidates for the presidency as a result of this year's campaign. As matters stand now it is generally assumed that President Harding will be a candidate to succeed himself and that he will be re-nominated. It would be extremely unusual if that did not happen.

However, traditions and precedents have had a way of getting upset in recent years. Mr. Harding may decide one term is all he wants, or politics may take such a turn that it will become apparent that his re-nomination is not to be conceded.

In either contingency, the likeliest candidates for the honor would be those republicans who make the strongest showing this year. Several names are being mentioned as very likely people by those who are watching the senatorial nomination, may well be one of these. Pichot, who upset the republican organization's apple cart in Pennsylvania, may be another.

Still another possibility is Senator La Follette, who won a notable victory in the Wisconsin primary and who is not likely to stand on tradition or precedent if he concludes that 1924 is a good year for him to make another bid for presidential honors. Senator Hiram Johnson, California, likewise is one of those running this year in what might prove to be a preliminary center for the next big race.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

AMBITION
My father says when I grow up I ought to study law.
My mother knew an artist once, an' hopes I'll learn to draw.
My uncle says that maybe I could study medicine.
An' give the children castor oil to make 'em well again.
But it's all settled now an' they can let the subject drop.
I made my mind up yesterday to be a mounted cop.

My sister says my pug nose an' my bunch of freckles
An' indication I can be a comic movie star.
She says the whole wide world would laugh if
Just my face were seen.
The way it is this minute on the picture silver screen.
But some day she'll be proud of me when I am at the top
An' own a horse an' a uniform—a dashing mounted cop.

I'll gallop down the avenue upon my coal black steed
An' every day I'll risk my life to do some daring deed.
I'll snatch the children from the path of trucks
An' land some desperado safe behind the prison bars.
When times are dull I'll ride around to where the clover grows,
An' let the youngsters pet my horse an' pat his neck all nose.

There's been a lot of talk of late 'bout what I'm goin' to be
An' all my folks are dreamin' dreams an' makin' plans for me.
But I won't read the lawyer's books, or study mortal law,
An' give the children castor oil or bitter-tasting pills.
I'm going to ride a dashing horse an' all disorder stop—
Let him who will be president, I'll be a mounted cop!

Who's Who Today

GENERAL SIR CHARLES HARRINGTON.

A most unusual responsibility, according to the news dispatches, has been conferred upon Lieut. General Sir Charles Harrington, who has been commander-in-chief of the British army of the Black Sea since 1920, and is now chief of the allied forces in the near east. He has been given absolute authority over the British army in that section, the handling of the difficult situation being left entirely to his discretion. This is an unusual distinction and indicates a very high degree of confidence in the general's efficiency.

General Harrington is a typically brave military man. For thirty of his fifty years he has worn the king's uniform. From Sandhurst he entered the king's Liverpool regiment, a noted command, and served in the Great War. He distinguished himself as a lieutenant colonel and chief of a major general, was an instructor at Sandhurst, and later a member of the imperial staff. He was knighted in 1919, and is a distinguished officer of the Legion of Honor.

In short, this commander whose government has given him a free hand in the present critical negotiations, is a thoroughly trained and seasoned soldier.

LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO

Oct. 12, 1882.—Madison is trying to organize a broom brigade with the intention of challenging the broom brigade.—The clerks in the clothing stores are circulating a petition among proprietors to close the stores at 7 o'clock, and have secured the signatures of all but one on Main street. It is now dark at seven and the customer cannot tell the quality of what he is buying, so the stores should close.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Oct. 12, 1900.—If Oaklawn hospital is to take advantage of the offer of $2,000 by William Payne, an equal amount must be raised in the city before the first of the year.—Hon. E. A. Cooper, Racine, will be the speaker at the Myers theater at the rally Oct. 15. Robert M. La Follette is scheduled there for Oct. 22.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Oct. 12, 1902.—Governor and Mrs. Robert La Follette will arrive in this city tomorrow morning. They will be met at the depot by Mayor Victor F. Richardson and will be escorted to his home, where they will be guests. At 8 p. m. the governor will speak at the Myers theater.—Two companies of regulars from Montana passed through here this morning on their way to Pennsylvania where they will help quell the miners' strike.

Oct. 12, 1912.—The Citizen's League representing a large number of the residents of the city, met last night and passed a resolution urging the city council and Mayor Pathe to see that laws of the state in regard to selling liquor to minors in this city be regarded. It is felt that the laxity in this regard is leading to a number of crimes in the city.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author

FOR A MOST WINTER

Health is going to be wealth this winter and now is the time to consider how to conserve coal. The majority of houses of civilization are overheated much of the time. Some store and office buildings are overheated all the time. The health, comfort, efficiency and wealth of every one concerned could be advanced by the exercise of better judgment in the heating of living and work rooms. The chief difficulty to contend with is the excessive drying out of the air by any kind of artificial heating. It is a curious fact that winter air heated up to 75 degrees, which is from five to 10 degrees too warm for health and efficiency ordinarily does not seem so comfortable as air at 65 degrees (22) for a normal individual, because the air at the higher temperature becomes excessively dried out, and unless some adequate provision is made for moistening the air, the excessively dry air will seem "chilly" and occupants of the room will be threatened to take a chill or will suspect stray drafts of reaching them. In short, the excessive dryness makes everybody a little chilly, and they don't know why.

In order to keep the air of a house of seven rooms sufficiently moistened it is necessary to evaporate not less than four gallons of water each 24 hours. If the temperature is kept at approximately 65 degrees F., and when the household temperature is permitted to soar to above 70 degrees something like 30 gallons of water must be evaporated each 24 hours to maintain a fair humidity.

Many furnaces have a pan for evaporating water, and often house holders neglect to utilize this because they find the furnace will work just as well without the bother. Nevertheless, it pays to keep the water pan in action, even though it evaporates only a fraction of the amount required. It saves fuel because moisture in the air gives comfort (and health) at a lower temperature. It is good economy to provide a connection with the water system, so that water is automatically kept in the evaporating pan of the furnace, if the caretaker doesn't think it worth while to fill the water pan every time the furnace is stoked.

The reason why people living in places at considerable altitude and far from the sea can endure very low temperatures with comparative comfort is that the air is comparatively dry. So there is some ground for the common belief that damp cold is more "penetrating" but of course that doesn't apply to the house heating question. Everybody knows that excessively high summer temperatures are harder to endure when the air is very moist than when it is dry.

The ideal to strive for in artificial heating is a temperature and humidity about like those of a perfect autumn day, and these conditions are most nearly approached when the household temperature is between 65 and 68 degrees, or an average of 66 degrees and about a gallon of water evaporated each 24 hours for every room of ordinary capacity.

When enough steam or water vapor is present in the air to make the windows frost over in winter, that is a fairly good indication of the proper humidity. In the absence of other provision, constant evaporation from an open vessel of water on stove, furnace or radiator is a great aid in maintaining healthful humidity.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Peroxide and Ammonia.
Is an equal amount of peroxide and ammonia mixed together and applied to the hair, as in the case of hair bleach, good for bleaching purposes? I have been told of a cream that will reduce the anikies if it is massaged into the hair. Is this effective or harmful? (Miss K. K.)

Answer.—Peroxide bleaches hair, but does not remove it. Ammonia tends to bleach, too, but does not destroy hair, unless it destroys the skin at the same time. The two combined are often used to render hair about the color of blonde, but it is a mistake to imagine they will destroy hair. So far as I know, lemon will do no harm; it is merely a weak acid, or cream or any other preparation or appliance of any kind will either reduce or enlarge any part of the body when rubbed in or applied locally.

Reading While Bathing.
Please tell me whether reading while taking a bath is injurious to body or mind. (A. R. O.)

Answer.—Not if you read wholesome, uplifting, instructive and diverting stuff like this. It is a fine custom to have something read at table, instead of the soup or the finger-bowls.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Clare Claremont, finding on the death of a respected uncle that she was penniless and her fortune of a million dollars had been dissipated, discovered that she had been a victim of the Black Menace, a notorious society of black magic, and later to Craig Kennedy, the great detective, who had determined that the Black Menace was a real thing. Kennedy was a young man, a bachelor, who had been a victim of the Black Menace, and he had determined that the Black Menace was a real thing. Reader Takes Newer Form of Iron—Feels Years Younger

"Six weeks ago I saw a special offer in the paper telling how thousands of people grow old in looks and energy long before they are really old in years, because, as examination by physicians has shown, an enormous number of people do not have enough iron in their blood. I have been taking Nuxated Iron for two weeks; the results are simply astounding. The rosy cheeks have come back in my lips and cheeks, and I can conscientiously say that I feel ten years younger."

The above is a typical hypothetical case showing the results that may be achieved by a great many people since we started this "satisfaction or money back" offer on Nuxated Iron. We will make you the same guarantee. If, after taking the two week's treatment of Nuxated Iron, you do not feel and look years younger, we will promptly refund your money. "Tinker Bob" Stories

by Carlisle H. Holcomb

SHARPY'S LANS HOUSE

"Tap, tap, tap." Tinker Bob listened and again he heard the same sound. Presently Jack, the Rabbit, came along and he too came to a stop and listened as though startled. Jack didn't see the King of the Forest either for Tinker Bob was very quiet.

"Tap, tap, tap," then there was a slight knock. Jack had not seen for a long time. In fact the King had not seen anything like it for years. A sharp, sharp knock was thrust out of a hole in a hollow tree. Then a head appeared. Some ships were dropped and the head thrust out farther. The sides of the head were a soft reddish-tan and on each side, at the beginning of the neck there was a black patch. The top of the head was gray, and at the back there was a little band of red. Jack knew that head and so did Tinker Bob. It was Sharp Deak, the Miller.

"My goodness, Sharpy!" cried Jack. "You nearly startled the wits out of me. I wasn't looking for you just now."

"Hello, Jack!" exclaimed Sharp Deak. "What are you doing up here? This is a good way out from the blizzard. What if Red Fox should come along?"

"Oh, I'm looking about to see who has arrived in the forest. I don't know anything like it for years."

"You nearly startled the wits out of me. I wasn't looking for you just now."

A. M.:—There should never be a second following the removal of a hair by the electric needle. Try a simple astringent that is also healing, such as witch hazel. For a skin as dry as yours it is essential to massage into it as much cream as the skin will absorb. Wipe off the surplus cream since you do not like the oil on the face. When feeding the skin in this way there is no necessity for a facial massage, merely use the finger tips to work the cream into the pores.

Mulha:—A powder which is used in the place of soap for blackheads is made by mixing 2 ounces of corn starch, 1 ounce of powdered borax and 1 ounce of almond meal. Hold hot, wet cloths over the face, then take a little powder on the fingers and rub thoroughly into the wet skin; repeat until you have used quite a bit of the powder, which the skin will absorb. Wash out with hot water and massage in a little cream.

Katana:—There is no indication that bobbed hair is going out of fashion. There is a movement among some hairdressers to hold this style for daytime; for evening wear they suggest bobbing the hair of the same color as the hair, or covering it with the hair wigs; all of which is such an affliction it is not likely that many women will care to disguise the fact that the hair is bobbed.

Sharp came wholly out and flew down by the side of the King. "I want to see Sharpy myself. It has been a long time since I saw him and Mrs. Flicker."

"Well, then, you'll have to do it. Sharpy, I know how exciting Mrs. Flicker's said that."

Presently Tinker Bob made his presence known and Jack was about as startled as when he heard the tapping.

"Don't be afraid," said Tinker Bob. "I want to see Sharpy myself. It has been a long time since I saw him and Mrs. Flicker."

Iowa, Big Ten Champs, on Way East to Grapple Bulldogs

BADGER BOY WILL AID HOWARD FIGHT HIS BROTHER TAD

Iowa City, Ia.—Farmers of Iowa Thursday have forgotten about the price of corn; the market value of choice hogs and the usual talk about bumper or lean crops—because 25 of their sons, members of the University of Iowa football eleven, 1921 champions of the Western conference, are on their way to New Haven, Conn., to play Yale in the Yale bowl Saturday, in the biggest football game of Iowa's history.

Big for a score of reasons, among which are these: The rival teams are coached by brothers—Howard Jones, and brother Tad, famous mentor of the Yale eleven; that all Iowa has a sneaking notion that the black and gold eleven may conquer Yale or will at least hold the bulldogs to a low score, and most important of all is the conviction that Iowa fights, no matter how tough the opposition, to the bitter end.

Iowa's eleven of a year ago made that slogan famous in the mid-west. With the same fighting spirit, Iowa promises to give the fight of the year when the teams level off at the bottom of the Yale bowl Saturday afternoon.

Captain Howard Jones promises his famous brother coaching in the way that the western open game the west has to offer. His attack probably will consist almost entirely of shifts and passes, although he will have Gordon Locke, his great plunging full back, to lead any time he elects to try the mauling of the bulldog line. Jones, himself a former Yale star, end, and later an assistant coach there, will be well able to counter the Yale offense. Iowa's offense is a mixture of the old and new in football. Captain Locke is used as the pivot or Jones' line smashing tactics, while his ends and halfbacks cooperate in the open passing and shifting game. The open style probably will be chiefly in evidence against Yale, as Coach Jones has developed a system of shifts that he thinks will be effective.

Iowa's Nickes Piled.
Although Coach Jones last seven letter men last year, his team has shown offensive strength this season. Captain Locke is at his old niche at fullback. In place of Aubrey Dwyne, all American quarterback, two men have been developed. Mink, veteran guard, who has inherited the kicking too, and is taking care of the punting, and Martin, who takes care of generalship and dispatches passes at quarterback.

Duke Slater, plant agro, who last season was accustomed to take out one side of the opposition line when gains were needed, has been replaced at tackle, by Engelinger, a West Point man two years ago. Engelinger, or one of his running mates, Thompson, one of last year's veterans, scale at 200 pounds.

Wisconsin and Michigan have replaced leading at end, and is played opposite Kadesky, a veteran end from last year's squad.

Johnny Heldt, who played center last year, is back and will appear in an attack of lumber from which he is suffering permits. Jones has several sophomore centers capable of taking his place in the line. Most is Mink's running mate at guard. Mead was a member of Iowa's famous line last year and is one of Jones' most dependable forwards.

Last year, from the beginning of the season, Iowa began preparing for the peak of her football glory, the game with Yale. This year the Hawkeyes, short of their four great stars, still have their slogan determination that "Iowa fights."

Turkey Day Run to Be Enlarged to Three Classes
Three classes will participate in the annual Turkey day run of the Y. M. C. A. this year, according to announcement Wednesday by A. E. Bergman, physical director.

The three mile run for seniors of 18 years or over will be retained as in the original event. A division will be added for youngsters and another distance for intermediates.

While definite age limits have not been set, discussion is now centering on a quarter mile run for boys under 13 and a half mile for those, 13 to 15. This matter will be settled shortly.

Director Bergman had a class of youngsters cut on the streets last week. They were enthused.

To develop a greater interest in the three mile run, which will enter its third successive season this year, a "Three Mile Club" is to be formed. An award will be given any member who covers the three mile limit. The plan for the club would be to permit the member to train for the annual run as long as he likes under competent coaching.

Retain Huggins as Yankee Boss
New York—Miller Huggins, whose re-engagement as manager of the New York Yankees for 1923 was announced Wednesday, will have a free hand in organizing the team for next year, according to the club owners. Huggins will be in complete charge of the team, said Mr. Ruppert. We are ready to make any trade that will strengthen the club.

Huggins has not been in the best of health and will undergo a minor operation at his home in Cincinnati after a rest of a few days in Atlantic City before beginning to plan for next year.

Janesville Gets Golf Meet Cup
Award of the silver second place cup to the five-man team of the Janesville Country club for placing in the southern Wisconsin-northern Illinois golf tournament at Beloit in July was made Wednesday. The cup stands 24 inches on a pedestal and will be the permanent property of the local club.

The names of the team members are engraved upon it—E. E. Wilcox, Albert Schaller, S. H. Edwards, H. J. Carpenter and Hugh McCoy. These men took second place after a hard fight, Beloit winning first with 22 down and Janesville having 26 down on bogie.

Each member of the team has been presented with a silver medal, suitably engraved.

WHY wait until the lad gets into high school before giving him a chance to compete in athletics? Oshkosh doesn't. This grade schools of the northern city are equipping in a hot race for the junior football championship, "Gosh. Eight schools are entered.

THE TOURNAMENT is conducted under supervision of a recreation department. A fast schedule is followed. Games are bringing out exceptional play with scores unusually close and contests exciting.

THE EXAMPLE of Oshkosh is worthy of emulation by other cities. Janesville for instance. Soccer is a red-blooded game, the sort of a contest where the kid may kick and let himself go in free joy of taking part with his comrades. With 12 men on a team, it provides a good chance for group activity.

THE SAME STEP could be taken in the grade schools of Janesville. This would be a spring of a supervised, regularly-scheduled league. Attempts at this in the past have been haphazard, some one having an idea that it is worthwhile, but not giving it enough personal attention to see it was carried to conclusion.

THESE TWO leagues, plus the annual track and field meet, would not only give the lad properly watched exercise, but teach him the proper spirit of sports. It would be a good thing to have a training foundation to be used to advantage when he enters high school and goes out for one of the several teams. The logical playground association, why should the playgrounds be for the summer months only? Doesn't the boy need exercise more when he is going to school—group games?

20 Harness Horses Will Winter Here After Big Season

Twenty harness horses will be stabled at the Janesville fair grounds during the winter months, it was announced Wednesday by Charles S. Putnam, director of speed. Some of them are already in the stalls.

Henry Shaw & Son, formerly of Madison, have moved to this city and now have five horses wintering here. In addition to three of their own, they have Lewis Windsor and Winnie De Forest, both Madison owned horses that were trained by the late George Spencer. They will bring five others here that have been racing during the past season.

James Conry, Edgerton, has Watts, Irwin, Joe Knight and three others here. One is a colt sired by The Harvester and is a promising two-year-old. He has another two-year-old, sired by Azot, in his stable. Joe Knight is shaping up well and looks like a coming fast horse, having done around 2:07 at the Indianapolis state fair.

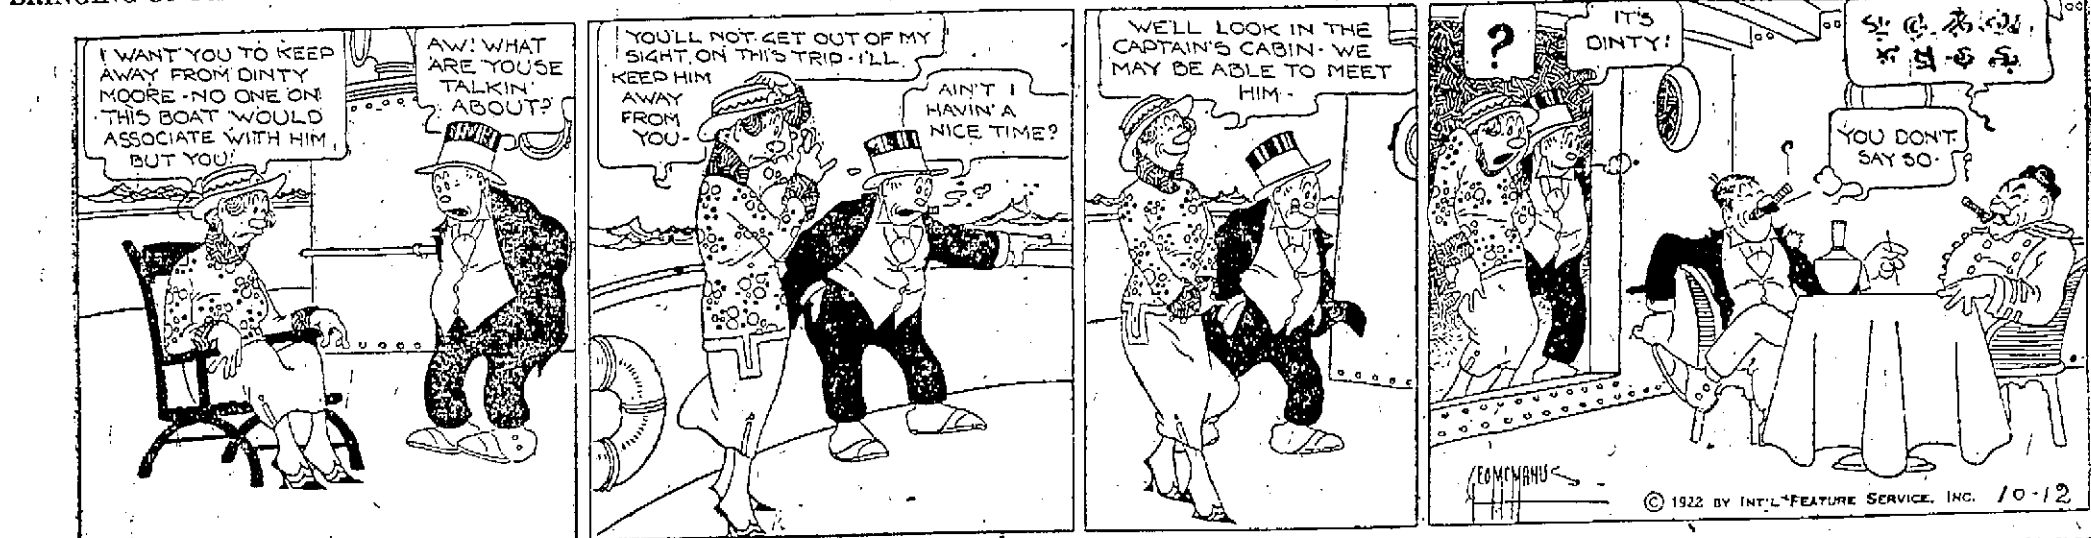

The past season has been the biggest financially and the attendance has been the greatest in the history of harness racing in the state, says Mr. Putnam. It has seen the best horses on the oval in many years. The Wisconsin grand circuit, which takes in Janesville, Monroe, Madison, Elkhorn and Milwaukee, saw its most successful year. Elkhorn was no pleased with the quality of horses provided through being a member of the circuit that it is anxiously awaiting next season.

Many more horses are coming into the state. A number of Wisconsin fanciers attended the recent races at Lexington and made purchases. Among them was Frank Ayers of Burlington, who bought two colts.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Robertson of Sox Surmounts Pitchers in Perfect and Two Hit Major Games

Charley Robertson in action.

New York.—Two no hit games, the seventh and eighth in the history of the major leagues, were the pitching features in 1922 baseball, a season marked by heavy and continuous hitting, according to semi-official figures.

Charlie Robertson of the Chicago White Sox sprang from a rookie's estate to baseball fame by turning back the Detroit Tigers without a hit in a perfect game on April 30, and Jess Barnes, the New York Giants' veteran, entered the hall of fame, May 7, a week later by pitching at most perfect ball against the Philadelphia Quakers.

Robertson also added to his laurels by pitching a two hit game against Boston June 13th, and later a three hit game.

American Pitchers Lead.
There were two one hit games in the National league and none in the American, but the younger organization led both in the number of two and three hit games. There were thirteen two hit games in the National and 16 three hit contests in the American compared to 13 in the National.

Bill Doak of the St. Louis Cardinals twirled both one hit games, the first on May 11 against the Giants, and the second on July 13 against the Philadelphia Quakers. Urban Faber of the Chicago White Sox, and Stanley Coveleskie of the Cleveland Indians, each pitched three hit games, and Van Gilder, the heavy hitting roundsman of the Browns, finished two three hit games in the American league's total of 16. Urban Shocker, another Brown star, finished one three hit game himself and worked in another with Fletcher Bayne.

Robertson Stars Again.
Jack Quinn of the Red Sox and Charlie Robertson of the Chicago Americans were the two men in the American league to pitch both a three hit and a two hit game. Quinn accomplished the first against the White Sox July 26, and the latter against the Indiana Jags.

The other three hit pitchers in the American were: Levelette and Robertson, White Sox; Stoner, Tigers; Collins, Red Sox; and Harris, Athletics.

Pittette Gives Three-Hit.
Herman Pittette of the Tigers turned in three two hit games, an unusual accomplishment, and Joe Bush of the Yanks, twice let the opposition down with two hits. Other two hit pitchers in the American league are Ben, St. Louis; Robertson, White Sox; Quinn, American league; Urban Faber of the Chicago White Sox; and Stanley Coveleskie of the Cleveland Indians.

It has been figured that 26 carloads of copper are used to carry a telephone message from New York to Chicago.

The two hit pitchers of the National league are McNamara of the Braves; Aldridge and Osborne, Cubs; Jesse Haines of the Cardinals; and Coach of the Reds.

Three hit pitchers are: Bixey, Dodgers; Couch, League and Markle of the Reds; Shriver and Grimes, Robins; McDowd, Quakers; Toner, Giants; and Cooper and Adams, Pirates.

Injuries Will Hamper Milton; Hill Is Captain

Milton—Coach Crandall's charges went through a hard workout in Wednesday's rain preparing for the Plattville Normal game to be played on the Janesville fair grounds at 3:30 p. m. Friday. Even in a drill and scrimmaging against the seconds, special emphasis was laid on accuracy in handling the ball. The Northwestern game last week taught the Miltonites if they are to defeat Plattville they must overcome the tendency to fumble and pass inaccurately.

Injuries to several first string men and loss of Capt. Jerry Sayre, who has given up football permanently, will work a serious hardship on the Milton eleven. Lovel Platteville, Janesville boy, re-injured his broken rib on returning to practice Tuesday after a layoff and may be unable to start against Plattville. Bingham, left guard, is laid up with a charley horse and will be unable to play. Friday, Coach Crandall said after Wednesday's practice, J. Hill, end, is nursing a wrenched knee, and several other men are suffering minor sprains and bruises.

Unless Blake or Bingham recovers by Friday, the following men will probably be sent against Plattville: Ends—Kopier and Dillmer; tackles—H. Hill and Samuelson; guards, Garvin and Green; center—Bentz; quarter—C. Hill; halves—Snair and Seager; full, Chadsey.

At an election held in the locker room Wednesday evening by the first team men, Russell Hill, tackle, was chosen to succeed Sayre as captain. Edwin Chadsey, former Union high school athlete, was acting captain in the Northwestern game. Hill played on the University of Nebraska freshman eleven two years ago and with Milton last season. His home is in North Loup, Neb.

Walworth County

ELKHORN

Elkhorn.—The assessed valuation of Walworth county for 1922 will be $71,000,000. This is an increase of nearly $1,000,000 over last year. While there is a falling off in the country districts, a material increase is noted in the cities and villages. The largest town in the personal property is 94,000, cattle, valued at $2,450,000. The assessors report 3,000 automobiles, valued at $1,612,000. This gives Walworth county an average valuation of $23.50 a head, and the automobiles an average value of $322.

Highway Commissioner Peters, E. A. Woodford, Darlen, C. W. Taylor, La. Grange, and J. C. Brennan, all members of the county state road and bridge committee, made a tour of inspection of county roads Wednesday. FARM NEWS

The East Troy, Whitewater, and Delavan-Geneva cow test association completes its new year Nov. 1, and will be in a position to take on a few new herds at that time. It can be said almost without exception that every farm should have his herd in a cow testing association, and it is surprising how hard it is to get some farmers convinced as to the value of this work. If you want your herd judged by the jury of Babcock test and milk scales for a year, just tell any of the association officers or the county agent.

Walworth county is the only county in the world with as many as six cow testing associations all 100 per cent free from scrub bulls.

Oct. 26, 1922, will be an important date in the history of Wisconsin dairymen. On that date the state's first "dairy feeders' day" will be held in connection with the annual conference of extension workers. Plans for the winter feeding operations will be worked out and the "Feed Your Cows for Profit Campaign" will be started.

"Feed Your Cows for Profit" has been adopted as the slogan and it is hoped that it will be adopted as the slogan of the year. Practical feeders will speak from the farmers' standpoint; feed dealers will present their viewpoint; E. L. Morrison, E. J. Hart and E. S. Savage will give the results of their experiments in dairy cattle feeding.

Wouldn't it mean a lot to Walworth county if a few of our leaders could attend this meeting? Won't you drop the county agent a card saying you are coming?

4 DELAVAN MEN PUT ON PAROLE

VanMatre Paroled to Mayor Tanck; Others to State Board.

Elkhorn.—Judge David Agnew, Waltesha, Wednesday heard the cases of the rest of the Delavan gang charged with a series of robberies in that city. All the men were put on parole.

Ralph VanMatre, 18, was sentenced to three years and paroled to Mayor Fred Tanck, Delavan. George Greibbe, Victor Impicini and Joseph O'Brien were paroled to the State Board of Control.

Greibbe, 21 years old, was given one year; Impicini, 20, two years and O'Brien, 21, three years.

Judge Agnew sentenced the men and told them that any violation of the parole made the sentence operative and that it would be carried out to the letter.

It is not expected that the case of Joseph Barfield for embezzlement will be tried in the Walworth county circuit court as a settlement out of court is expected to wipe it from the records. It is the only criminal case scheduled for trial.

Because of the rush at the Holton factory it has become necessary to increase the working time from nine to ten hours a day.

FERGHANA RUSSIAN LISTENING POST

Soviet Uses Slav Province to Promote Leadership of Asiatics.

Washington.—Continual reports from Moscow that the Soviet Government is seeking to become a power of Asiatic peoples, and its recent evidence of friendship toward the Turks, arouse interest in Fergana, the country which was the Russian Empire's first Asiatic province, wedged between India and China.

A bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society deals with this country, and its history, its towering mountains and picturesque valleys where the territories of Russian, Chinese, and Indian almost meet.

For almost 2,000 years, Fergana has been a "listening post," says the bulletin, "but among them two stand out. Its northern valleys constituted the heart of Russia's cotton producing country, and its borders were the listening post for the Russian Empire, so to speak, of the great Slav glacier which had moved slowly down through Asia, bringing its deposit of Russian dominion and culture, and it hung over high India and China.

In Russian Kashmir

"The southern portion of Fergana is a sort of Russian Kashmir, a country of high plateaus and towering peaks, deep valleys, picturesque rivers and sparkling lakes. It is, in fact, the reverse to Kashmir's obverse, for it lies just over the mountain divide from that beautiful Kashmir, and its rugged beauty is so close that a Titan or a Die Bertha might hurl a missile from Russian to British territory. Only a narrow strip of Afghan land, severed because of the long journey and diplomatic struggle between Britain and the old Russian Empire, lies between. In places it is as narrow as twenty miles.

"The southern portion of Fergana is the Pamir, 'roof of the world.' Once Russia finally got possession of it in 1893, she drew even tighter about it the cloak of secrecy that nature had cast along her borders. It became generally known that excellent military roads were reaching out from northern Fergana through gorges and over high passes in the Pamir, over which artillery could be taken to the very threshold of British India. But few persons other than trusted imperialists were permitted to traverse these paths which Russian dreamers hoped would some day lead their empire still farther south.

"While the southern end of Fergana is a country of rugged mountains and plateaus, the fertile valleys of its northern end constitute a Central Asian Eden. Snow-fed hills and rivers, always fullest in the warm growing season, were laid out over fertile plains until they died in the sands; but in the dying they made northern Fergana a garden spot of grains and fruits, and after the Russians came, of precious cotton. The cotton produced in these and neighboring Turkistan oases before the World War, was greater than that of India or Egypt and second only to that of the United States.

Why Stay Fat?

You Can Reduce

They are absolutely harmless, entail no dieting or exercise, and have the added advantage of cheapness. A case is sold at one dollar by all druggists the world over, or the price direct to the Marmola Co., 4512 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich. VETERAN WARSHIPS AT GREAT LAKES

Great Lakes Naval Training Station, Great Lakes, Ill.—Sixteen models of fighting ships of the American navy, ranging from the Bon Homme Richard of John Paul Jones to the latest battle cruiser, have been placed on display at the headquarters of the fifth naval district here. The models were furnished to Captain Waldo Evans, commandant of the district, by the bureau of construction and repair.

The models cover the development of the American navy from the revolution to the present, with replicas of some of the most famous craft that ever have flown the American flag.

Famous Old Frigate.
The frigate Bon Homme Richard, outfitted in France by Jones, won untold fame, Sept. 23, 1779, when she attacked the Scorpion, a British frigate of 44 guns, which, with the Countess of Scarborough, was conveying 10 British merchantmen home from the Baltic. In a desperate battle in which the Bon Homme Richard was so badly mangled she sank a few hours later, Jones lashed his ship to the Scorpion and fought until the British captain struck his flag. The battle ended with the Bon Homme Richard on fire in two places, all her

Luxurious Transatlantic Air Travel, Berlin Dream

Berlin.—Will the air over the Atlantic shortly be roaring with giant floating palaces capable of making the trans-oceanic flight in 50 hours? Some enthusiasts, who claim definite plans are under consideration for the monster trans-Atlantic air liners, are described in other quarters as mere "pipe-dreamers," dealing in just ordinary "castles in the air."

The proposed ships would each have a gas capacity of 110,000 to 150,000 cubic meters. They would tear through the clouds at the rate of 140 miles an hour, unless there was no urgent demand for speed, in which case they would slow down to 100 miles. Such a vessel would be 275 meters long, 55 meters wide at its greatest diameter, and 33 meters high from the top of the gun-bag to the bottom of the body. The power would lower deck guns dismantled, two of her bigger guns blown up, and several feet of water in her hold.

Next in interest to the model of the Richard, is a replica of the equally famous frigate Constitution, immortalized in Oliver Wendell Holmes' poem, "Old Ironsides."

Others represented in the collection are the Monitor and her famous rival, the Confederate Ironclad, Merrimack; the Ironclad Benton; the steam sloop Enterprise, one of the first steam vessels in the navy; the cruiser Chicago; the battleship Oregon, which made the

Parker Pen Adds More Employees; 400 Now on Duty

A large volume of sales of the most recent product of the Parker Pen company, line has led during recent months to enlargement of the force through a gradual process until 400 are now working in the plant.

It was stated by George S. Parker, Wednesday, that this is the largest force ever employed, and that additions are being made constantly to increase production of pens which now average around the 5,000 mark daily.

"I do not believe we will be able to take care of the Christmas trade," said Mr. Parker. "We will make every effort to do so and this will mean employment for more people. The rush of orders during the past few days reminds me of Christmas holiday business. Telegrams and cablegrams bring orders from all sections of the United States and from foreign countries."

Mr. Parker said that in September the concern enjoyed the largest month's business since establishment.

Manufacture of gold pen points for the fountain pens has never before been attempted here until recently. About five per cent of the number needed for production are now manufactured but additional machinery will be installed on the third floor to increase several times the number now manufactured. Gold pens are now being manufactured by five different concerns for

OXEN ARE SCARCE IN UNITED STATES

Chicago.—"Times do change," is the unanimous verdict of officials of the American Electric Railway Association who searched three months for a team of oxen to be used in connection with the annual convention here, Oct. 2-6.

"When someone suggested an ox team to show the stages in the progress of that kind of animal," he said, "I said Secretary James W. Walsh, 'But when we began to look for them we couldn't find one. Ezra Meeker, an Oregon trail pioneer who drove an ox team about the country in the interest of good roads, was appointed to but his team was stuffed and on exhibition in Seattle.'"

"We asked stockyards officials, wild west shows and many others. Eventually we heard of one blind ox in Phillips, Wis., and, after getting the entire city interested in the search, we located a yoke near there."

Threatens Action Against Candler

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Atlanta.—Firm in her intentions to "bring the kind of legal action against Asa G. Candler which will make him vindicate her name," Mrs. Oezima De Bouchel of New Orleans, whose engagement to the Atlanta capitalist recently was terminated, Thursday was planning to return with her attorney to her home in Louisiana. Other than one statement issued through his attorneys, that he regretted Mrs. De Bouchel had sought publicity of a "private" affair and that information in his possession made a marriage with the divorcee impossible, Candler has refused to discuss the termination of the engagement for publication.

NEW GUINEA SHUTS OUT GERMAN COINS

Sydney, N. S. W.—The use of German coins or currency in the mandated territory of New Guinea has been prohibited by an ordinance issued by the federal government, under a penalty of 100 pounds or six months imprisonment. Natives, however, may pay to the administration German coins for fees, taxes or other excises.

The ordinance also prohibited the use of tokens and counters for trade purposes or wages and provided that a portion of a shell known as "Gold Shell" may be used as legal tender at the rate of 12 shillings a pair, except for the purchase of barter of trochus shells.

Religious or charitable institutions operating in the territory are exempted from the prohibitions of the ordinance.

HAITIAN BIRTHRATE BOOSTS POPULATION

Port-au-Prince, Haiti.—With a ratio of three births to each death, as shown by vital statistics for the first six months of 1922, Haiti is rapidly increasing in population and is free from race suicide. A striking phase of this increase is that the difference in male and female babies is negligible. The gradual adoption of American sanitary methods, the improvement of the agricultural yield, the cessation of Haitian revolutions with their considerable toll of deaths and hardships that were reflected in succeeding generations, are responsible for the marked increase in a naturally prolific people. Last year the ratio was two to one.
